This Weeks Headlines

- Our reading story this week was titled "The Bug Bath." This story taught us the short /o/ sound. I told them that short /o/ can sound two different ways. Both ways that we hear it are correct, and are both spelled the same way.
- We did a lot of writing this week. We wrote about the top 5 things in the bath tub, and we also wrote about what you need to have a bath. We made a classroom book out of these for the kids to read during FRED time.
- In math, we wrapped up our chapter on addition facts up to 6. We will be skipping a chapter (later returning to it) on subtraction, and continuing to work on facts up to 12. Now is a great time to be practicing the math flash cards nightly. A fun idea is to keep them in the car and do a red light challenge!

A Few Reminders...

- There is no school on Monday because of teacher institute. I'll see you all on Tuesday.
- Next Friday will be the end of the 1st Quarter. Please keep in mind that much of what was done was review and next quarter will be more difficult.
- Report cards will be sent home October 2nd.
